MATHWORKS Offers FCAT Readiness...

It's said that March comes in like a lion and leaves like a lamb. But in between, there are the FCATs. And Mathworks, a recognized leader in math and language arts tutoring, will be offering students in grades 3 to 5 an opportunity to get ready for these tests at its Tutoring Center in North Naples.

Mathworks' tutors are prepared to work one-on-one with students who need targeted support to be ready to take the FCAT tests. This includes:

- reviewing and reinforcing computational and other skills
- demonstrating how to read and solve multi-step and word problems, and
- showing students how to take tests (including time management)

All of these reach far beyond FCAT testing alone and will benefit your child as they progress throughout their educational career.

These one-on-one tutoring sessions have been designed from the perspective of the Mathworks educational team, many of whom are current Collier County classroom teachers. They know, firsthand, that in the classroom students learn how to do specific math operations/skills one at a time. However, they also know that time is not always available to delve into fully integrating these skills and applying them in solving more complicated problems and problems that are presented in word format.

Mathworks will work with your child to change this!
